e Sensible Suggestions with Regard to This Matter.

Those old questions concerning paying the minister for such special services as confirmations, baptisms, weddings and funeral services are again up for agitation and discussion.

People are to be found who think not only that a minister ought to work for almost nothing and find himself, but that he cucht to include all these special services. he ought to include all these special services in the work he does for his regular

It is hard on the ordinary minister. As to the few ministers who receive princely salaries, their Ices are large in pro-portion. People who expect special services of them generally do the fair thing

Such special services as ought to be performed in church when the congrega-gation is assembled are usually considgation is assemined are usually considered part of a minister's regular duty.

Should a minister be called to a private house to haptize a baby there is an evident propriety in making him a present of some kind in return for his kinduess and as a compensation for his trouble. It may be in each, or it may be some acceptable article for table use or for household descention.

decoration. People who give books to ministers generally make the mistake of selecting some book which the minister does not wast. Some good people who recently gave their pastor a cony of the L. .. e did not stop to think that he already had in his library about fifteen copies in various styles and languages.

In wedding fees it may safely be said that the man who gives none is a mean fellow, not worthy to have a good wife. He who pays only a dollar or two is not much better, unless his abject poverty is the cause of the smallness of the fee.

Why a minister should be expected to attend and conduct a funeral without charge is hard to guess. It is quite as hard work, both for mind and body, as to preach a sermon.

More attacks of clerical broughitis and pneumonia have been suffered by going to funerals than from any other cause. The person who stands bardleaded on the cold ground or damp boards be lie an open grave is apt to be reading his own death warrant while he pronotings the words of the funeral service,

In a word, the minister ought to be as squarely dealt with as any other man of any profession or calling who renders ser-vices of any kind.—New York Press.

Finally they decided to fight it out, and appointed to meet in a grove a mile off, ne August afternoon in 1860. One of the parties took his pistal, proceeded to the rendezvous, and sat down at the foot of a tree to rest, and fell asleep. He was awakened by the report of a pistol to see his hated rival standing ut ten feet off with a smoking pistol in his hand, while at his feet was a very large and ugly rattlesnake, twisting and rming in the throes of death. He looked at the snake, then at the en-

General Sherman's Warning.

Says General Sherman in his monograph on the ex-slaves at the South: "The negro is not permitjudgment of the white majority. and if it changes the verdict of their former masters it is not counted." But the old hero of many battles does not pause here; he does not hesitate to express his belief that unless the colored citizen at the South is not better secured in their political rights, we shall have serious trouble. He says:

What is the use of shutting our eyes to a well-known fact? We did so from to a well-known fact; we use 1850 to 1860, and have paid the penalty. The next war may be avoided by reason and common sense, and if 1 can help to avert it I will feel more honored than in past victories and tri-umphs. I say to the South, let the It will not disturb, but, on the contrary, hasten your prosperity and stability as a people. There is no use of talking to me of "bloody shirts" of talking to me of "bloody shirts"—
I have seen enough of them; yea, coats and overcoats enganguined by the heart's blood of the best men that ever lived. I begged and implored my friends in Louisiana, in 1861, not to arouse the enmity of the sleeping lion of the North. Ever since the beginning of time the Southern people have ning of time the Southern people have been quick to anger, but not enduring. The Northern people, per centra, are slow to anger, but once aroused are not easy to allay. The negro is gaining in experience and intelligence every day, and he has read Byron: "Hereditary bondsmen, know ye not, who would be free, themselves must strike the blow?"

Over five thousand merchants of New York have enrolled themselves in a "Harrison and Morton Dry Goods Club." They have opened headquarters on Broadway, and their work has become the most prominently distinctive feature of the campaign in that city. A striking incident of the organization is the fact that a very reable number of the me ship is of Democrats. The club holds meetings daily and nightly for six days each week, and a peculiarity of these meetings is their very calm and conservative character. Discussion takes the place of mere enthusiasm, and the good of the country, the interests of society and conservation of the husiness of the country. Clubs of business men have heretcfore taken part in Presidential campaigns, but we believe there is no record of any other club organization of that character quite so strong, or so methodical.

THERE is no room for doubt that the members of the Cobden Club of England meant what they said when they proposed to turn over the surplus funds in their treasury to assist in the re-election of Mr. Cleveland. The gold bugs of Wall street, the solid South and the manfacturers of England, represented by the Cobden Club, are making this anti-protection fight, and it is against the degrading and unnot easy to understand how a voter in the latitude and longitude of Nevada can oppose a protective tariff.

The breaking of the smallest wheel in a mammoth factory, if not repaired as a speck of dust will derange the delicate machinery of a watch. Were people as thoughtful to repair their broken health on the first approach of disease as the owner is to mend his machinery, they would escape indescribable suffering and often death. Slight causes will sometimes derange the digestive organs, on whose healthy action the health of the whole system so much depends, and feverish blood, headaches, and consumption itself, set in. The wise person will at once arrest the cause of these unhealthy symptoms, resorting to that world-famed remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which purifies the blood and cures liver disease. CHOICE, PURE BRED CATTLE. A Truckee Meadows Rapeher Im-

Our enterprising neighbor, Enoch Morrill, is evidently a go-ahead man. He has not only just completed a new brick house on his ranch, but he is determined to have about him some of the choicest cattle to be had. He has purchased of the Inter-Stafe Gallovay t'attle Company, through Walter C. Wheedon, two very choice Galloway heifers, Bridesmaid Beauty, 3628, and Beatrice Beauty, 3620, sired by the imported Scotch bull "Young Viscount 1885" of the Semiramis family, said to be of the very best strains of these cattle in Scotland. This animal is also now owned in our State, having been recently purchased by J. V. McCurdy of Spring City. The Gazette wishes Mr. Morrill success in his new enterprise and trusts that others will follow his example until Reno shall become noted for her purebred herds as well as her fruits and vegetables. Mr. Morrill extends an invitation to his neighbor farmers and ranchmen to call and see his black

HARD TO BEAT.

The Most Remarkable Rifle Score

The Virginia Chronicle says: The score of 92 points, ring target measurement, made in ten shots at the 200yard target last Sunday by Thomas Uren, a member of the Nevada Rifle Association team, is the most remarkable on record. To score that number of points Mr. Uren made six center shots, counting ten points each shot; two of nine points, one of eight, and one six.

The ring target has three rings on black disc, termed the bullseye. This disc is eight inches in diameter. The first outer ring is No. 8, the one next to it No. 9, and the inner ring, or cen-ter, of the bullseye No. 10. This cen-ter is but two inches in diameter, and in that small space Mr. Uren planted six consecutive builseyes. Veteran rifle shots say that it will be many a long year before this feat is equalled, even with telescope sights. Mr. Uren accomplished it with a Sharp's rifle, having a six-pound trigger pull.

A Wonderful Hay Crop.

J. J. Hughes, who is working on the Higgins ranch, on the south side of the river just below Reno, to-day informed a GAZETTE reporter that they are still at work securing the third crop of alfalfa, and have about twenty acres yet to cut. Mr. Hughes says the three crops will exceed eight tons per acre. The above result was ob-tained on high, rocky ground, that a few years ago was regarded as almost valueless.

Sensibly Stated.

The discussion about marriage in England leads a lady thirty years married to make this criticism in her prayer book: "The Anglican service lowers the wife and sets the husband on a pedestal not at all suitable to him, filling him with notions of marital su-premacy which are the cause of half the unhappiness of married life."

Our Saccharine Soil.

Sugar beets grown on alkaline lands in Nevada show 32 per cent. of saccharine matter. In most countries where there are beet sugar marks from 15 to 20 per cent. of saccharine matter is found profitable. A test of common horseradish grown in alkali soil shows 14 per cent. of saccharine matter.

A Good Nomination.

Joseph Marzen, the big rancher and cattle-king of Lovelock's, is the Republican nominee for State Senator in 23, 1885, and formed a deposit to the Humbeldt county. Although Hum-boldt has always been the banner Democratic county of the State, there is a strong probability of Mr. Marzen's

We learn, through a reliable source We learn, through a reliable source that one of the enterpirsing proprie tary medicine firms of the country has been for years investigating the formulas and medical preparations used in the beginning of this century, and even before, with a view of ascertaining why people in our greatgrandfathers' time enjoyed a health and physical vigor so seldom found in the present generation. H. H. Warner, proprietor of Warner's safe cure and founder of the Warner observatory, Rochester, N. Y., has been pressing investigation in this direction, into the annals old family histories, until he has secured some very valuable formulas from which his firm is now preparing medicines, to be sold by all druggists. They will, we learn, be known.

medicines, to be sold by all druggists. They will, we learn, be known under the general title of "Warner's Log Cabin remedies." Among these medicines will be a "sarsaparilla." for the blood and liver, "Log Cabinhops and buchu remedy," "Log Cabinhops and buchu remedy," "Log Cabinhair tonic," "Log Cabin extract," for internal and external use, and an old valuable discovery for catarrh, called "Log Cabin rose cream." Among the list is also a "Log Cabin plaster," and a "Log Cabin liver pill."

From the number of remedies, it will be seen that they do not propose to cure all diseases with one preparation. It is believed by many that with these remedies a new era is to dawn upon suffering humanity and that the close of the nineteenth that the close of the nineteenth century will see these roots and herbs, as compounded under the title of Warner's Log Cabin remedies, as popular as they were at its beginning. Although they come in the form of proprietary medicines, yet they will be none the less welcome, for suffering humanity has become thred of modern doctoring and the public has great confidence in any remedies put up by the firm of which H. H. Warner is the head. The people have become suspicious of the effects of doctoring with poisonous drugs. Few realize the injurious effects following the prescriptions of many modern physicians. These effects of poisonous drugs, already prominent, will become more pronounced in coming become more pronounced in coming generations. Therefore we can cordially wish the old-fashioned new nedies the best of success.

Silver in Volca-le Ash.

Prof. Mallet has analyzed a specimen of volcanic ash collected on the Pacific coast in Ecuador, 120 miles west of Cotopaxi. The ash fell on July ing features in the composition of the material was the presence of a small amount of silver, probably as silver chloride. Several experiments showed that silver was present to the extent of one part in 83,630 of ash. This is the first time that silver has been identified in material ejected from

BRILLIANT COMICIOPERA.

Its Odd Lyries-The Cast, Costumes and

I give, herewith, details concerning the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera, with a few choice specimens of the lyries of the most fanciful and graceful of English dramatists, W. S. Gilbert, and all the financial details respecting that operatic and theatrical event, the production of a Gilbert and Sullivan opera. None of the facts given below have been published. I made arrangements for getting the gist of the opera ahead of time just before I left London last month. This information comes to me direct, and is absolutely authentic.

The title of the opera is not "The Tower of London." That title was at first decided upon but given up seven months ago. At the present moment, only three men on earth know what the real title is. They are Gilbert, Sullivan, and their manager, D'Oyly Carte. Three days before the opera is produced, or to be more accurate, on the 27th of September, this title will be announced, cabled to the different companies who are to do the work, and it will then become public property. That Gilbert's work is up to its usual standard is shown by the lyrics. The principal song of the comedian is not of the gay and flamboyant order of the admiral song in "Pinafore," or the Lord Chancellor's in "Patience." It is more in the fa-hion of the whimsical misery of the "Tit-Willow" song. It is musical to a degree and runs as follows:

I have a song to sing, O,
A song to the knell
Of a church ard bell,
And a doleful, dirge-like ding, O,
It's a song of a popinjay bravely born.
Who turn d up his noble nose in scorn
At the humble kitchen maid (poorly proud)
Who loved a nob, and who laughed aloud
At the moan of her lover, moping, mum, Whose soul was sad and whose glance was glum. As he sighed for the love of the maiden, O.

she finds it is her husband, whom she married so hurriedly in the tower of Lon-don that she had not even time to commit h.s appearance to memory.

One of the soprano songs is addressed to the guardians of the castle during a particularly gloomy period of the opera, and runs as follows:—

Give us an experiment
In the art of merriment;
Into it we throw
Coek that doesa terow.
Banish your timidity
And, with all rapidity,
Give us quip and quiddity,
Willy—nilly, O.

liver none can modify— nte it we throw not who doesn't folify, ock that doesn't crow. anish your limidity nd, with all rapidity.

lected by our own managers. They have always insisted, heretofore, in sending over English companies to present their works, but they have learned, after many years of observation, that our own companies are superior in many respects to those of London. There are not big mechanical effects in the new piece. A great deal of faith is put in the chornses, and, on that account, the leading chorus may be of interest. It is written in the swinging and tuneful style that reminded mesomewhat of "We Sail the Ocean Blue," in "Pinafore." It runs:—

Valiant Sworders,

prary interest in the production of a new opera by the most famous team of amuse-neut workers in the world, is very great, there is a new side to it—the commer-cial—which has in it the elements of cial—which has in it the elements of striking novelty. The ghost of the old-time playwright who went hawking the product of his genius around from stage door to stage door until he was kicked and cuffed into the guiter, would stand aghast at the financial magnitude of a Gilbert and Sullivan production.

If the opera is any sort of a success, they will make independent fortunes out of it the first year. Every arrangement is made on the basis of a voyatty and these on a small business; Gilbert and Sullivan's royalties will amount to over six thousand dellars a week. Figuring on the basis of a greate success like the "Mikado," "Patience," or "Pinafore," the income of these two clever gentlemen will be at the rate of nearly three hundred and fifty thousand dellars a year. D'Oyly Carte will produce a play with one opera in London at the Savoy Theatre, and two in the provinces. On the same date, Rudolph Aronson will play it in New York and Chicago, John Stetson will send out his companies to cover New England and Canada, and Emma Abbott will occupy California and the Northwest. All the American contracts are directly in the hands of Rudolph Aronson of the Casino. All of these in England fall under the management of D'Oyly Carte. Mr. Aronson negotiated for nine months before he succeeded in D'Oyly Carte. Mr. Aronson negotiated for nine months before he succeeded in obtaining the American rights for the Opera. He has subjet sections of this country to John Stetson and Emma Abbott, but every detail of all productions is under Gilbert and Sullivan's absolute direction. For instance, specimens of the material with which all the costumes are made are shimed at short intervals. from made are shipped at short intervals from the headquarters in England to the six companies on this side as well as in the English provinces. Gilbert and Sullivan personally do not risk a penny of any of this. All of the money expended is at the risk of the managers of the different companies. An idea of the magnitude of this may be gained from the fact that the Casino has already centracted for the costumes and scenery for two of its companies to the extent of $21,000. The costumes and scenery for two of its companies to the extent of $21,000. The amount of capital involved in the many productions on both sides of the water will reach a very high figure. The opera will reach a very high figure. The opera will be produced on October 1 or 8. I give the people who will play in three of the principal productions:

London-Miss Geraldine Ulmar, Miss Jessie Bond, Miss Fester, Mr. George Grossmith, Mr. Courtice Pounds, Mr. F. Billington; New York-Miss Lilly Grubb, Miss Isabella Urquhardt, Miss Fanny Rice, Mr. J. H. Ryley, Mr. Henry Hallam, Mr. George H. Broderick, Mr. George Olmi, Mr. Charles Plankitt, Mr. A. W. Tams, Chicago-Miss Bertha Ricei, Miss Elma Delaro, Miss Sylvia Gerrish, Mr. James K. Powers, Mr. Fred Solomon, Mr. Mark Smith, Mr. W. H. Kieger, Mr. Ellis Ryse, Mr. Henry Leoni.

Ellis Ryse, Mr. Henry Leoni.

The ratio of Gilbert and Sullivan's carnings has increased in extraordinary jumps ever since they went begging for a manager with "The Sorcerer" a few years ago. When they write another opera we may be able to get it by giving them a State or two, but from the stand-point of to-day it looks doubtful. BLAKELY HALL

TOURISTS IN RUSSIA?

Discouraging Experiences Which

They Are Sure To Have.

The tourist, and especially the American tourist of the chapest kind, has at last penetrated into Eussia, and for the comfort of these travelers certain arrangements have been made.
In some hotels at St. Petersburg and in widely understood and spoken, but it is useless to disguise the fact that the language of Bussian is Russian, and without at least, a little Russian t'e tourist must have a guide attached to Lis person. St. Fetersburg and Moscow are both vast towns; the distances from point to point are enormous; the sources are so broad that one can hardly think of walking across them; the streets measure miles in length and furlongs in wi...h.

The consequence is that in Russia nobody walls; even the kitchen mail who goes to market to buy a cribere or a water-melon rides in a swit droshka. Now, these droshkas are subject to no fixed tariff; in real Oriental faction you must bargain each time you hire one. How can you bargain without knowing omething of the language?

In the museums, the churches, the public monuments and the shops, this same difficulty of language stands very much in the way of the tourist's comfort.

Such being the case in the capitals, what must be the state of affairs in minor towns? How delightful is the situation of the tourist who starts on a seventyhour railway journey, in the course of which he may have to change trains four or five times, drive across towns from ene station to another, explain to porters, ask information from station-masters or trainconductors, who understand nothing but the language of Gogol and Pouci... ine! Remember, too, that the tourist who arrives upprepared in the country cannot read even the names of the stations, which are inscribed in Clavonic letters of y. In the hotels the bill of fare is uninterligible, and communication with the waiter can only take place through pantomime.

On the other hand it must be stated that in a first class carriage on a Bussian railroad you never fall to find some passenger who speaks French, and the educated Russians never seem to tite of show-ing kindness and courtesy to foreigners, and piloting them through traveling difficulties.

The Republicans of Washoe, proud of the past and hopeful for the future, heartily endorse the platform and nominees of the National Republican Convention, as adopted at Chicago, and the Republican State Convention at Winnemuce, and pledge a rousing majority for Harrison and Morton and Protection, and Murphy and Bartine and the ticket nominated by this Couvention. We demand legislation from both Government and State in regard to irrigation, and for the improvement of our natural waterways, as well as for the storage of water, whereby the natural advantages of this section can be improved to their fullest capacity. We demand the most rigid economy in State and County affairs, and the establishment of the State's expenses upon such a basis as will secure good government at the lowest rate of taxation. Financial Arrangements—An Interest-ing Plot-When and by Whom the New Production Will Be Prescuted in

The plot of the new opera is neither complicated nor profound. Like most of the former works of Sullivan and Gilbert, the theme is simple bordering on non-sense, the humor of the opera coming out in the profound and solemn manner in which Gilbert treats the absurdities of the child's plot. Briefly given, the opera-consists of circumstances surrounding the love of a nobleman and a beautiful girl, who are married in the last act. The nobleman is confined in the tower of London, sentenced to die before nightfall. He has a bad cousin who will inherit all of his estates in case the nobleman dies a bachelor. To prevent this, he sends out, gets a small flower girl and proposes to marry her. She is adored by a court jes-ter (the comedian) but, as her mother is very ill and in need of pate de foie gras, burgundy, truffles and champagne, she marries the nobleman. An hour later he unexpectedly escapes from the fortress. Later, the prima donna falls violently in love with the attractive stranger. She struggles with her passions violently, which is something that Gilbert's heroines have not done heretofore, most of them passing from one lover to another with unruffled tranquillity. But her love for the stranger is so strong that she can scarcely resist it. Eventually, of course,

Sir Arthur Sullivan's share of this notomposition will be of great inter-musicians. He is a man of many al ideas, and he has attempted to original ideas, and he has attempted to put as much satire into his music as Gilbert has into his words. Though he will fly above the heads of the mob, the music ally elect will be delighted. The music may be said, in a word, to be a parody of the antique. Sullivan is exceptionally happy in this sort of thing. He will take a theme of Handel's, Haydn's, or any of the other old masters and parody it to a point bordering on the grotesque. This reminds me, by the way, that the operawill not have the sensational features of will not have the sensational features of the "Mikado;" it will be of a more rothe "Mikado;" it will be of a more romantic nature. There will be sixty people in the chorus; thirty-two women and twenty-eight men. The chorus will consist everywhere of thirty pieces, and there are eleven speaking characters. It is the first time that Gilbert and Sullivan have ever sold the privilege of producing an opera in America with companies selected by our own managers. They have always insisted, heretofore, in sending over English companies to present their
